Delivery Of The Army "A" With Acceptance By Governor Holland Is Red Letter Day In The History Of The Glades

596 Carloads Move From Glades Past Seven Days

Army Award Comes At Same Time as Record Movement for the Year

This past week saw the heaviest movement from the Glades for the season—approximately 85 cars each day for the seven days.

Though there are no truck movements reliably reported this week it is assumed that this movement is approximately the same in proportion to the total as last week's—95 per cent.

Rail movements for the week are:

	N End	S End
Beans	114	176
Corn	3	1
Mixed	3	5
Peppers		1
Radishes		3
Total	120	186

By adding the estimated truck movement, we have a total of 596 carloads for the seven day period.

Peppers are a new carload for the season this week.

Prices raised a bit during the week altogether.

Father Of Roy Lane Buried In Lake Park

Mr. Roy Lane left yesterday for Lake Park, Ga., where he was called because of the death of his father, J. H. Lane, Sr., 81, who has been ill for several weeks.

Funeral services will be held today at Lake Park.

Carload Of Pedigreed Angus Arrive Here

Another indication of the interest in cattle for the Glades is the arrival Thursday of a car load of pure bred registered Black Angus.

Mr. C. W. McDonald and Frank Haas received 30 head composed of five cows, four two year old bulls and 21 two year old heifers.

"We hope, in the course of time, to have some registered animals for sale to Glades cattlemen," said Mr. McDonald, "for our entire herd has a family tree certified to, like Mrs. Asterbilt's pet terrier."

The herd will be pastured on the land of Mr. Krumseig north of Chosen and the public is invited to inspect them at any time.

While Louie Weiman has a few registered Black Angus Bulls on his ranch west of Stuart this is the first herd of this type of animal that has come into the Galdes.

No New Truck Use Will Get Gasoline

If you need fuel for trucks and must ask the ODT be sure you are not opening a new business that is not "absolutely essential," says Mr. T. B. McGahey of Miami.

Orders have come down from above that thus is shall be.

You can't even extend your use of trucks either unless it is essential.

Before you plan either you'd better contact the ODT office in Miami.

BOY SCOUT MEET

Conference on "Youth Security," open to the public, will be combined with the annual meeting of Gulf Stream Council, Boy Scouts of America, to be held at the Everglades Club, Palm Beach, December 14, acording to word received today by Dr. J. R. Neller, attendance chairman for Belle Glade.

A series of five meetings, especially for parents, committeemen, Den mothers and representatives from other organizations interested in youth activities will be held during the afternoon. Election of officers and presentation of the Silver Beaver award for achievement will follow the banquet at the Palm Beach Club.

W. A. Dobson, Atlanta, nationally known speaker who has served as regional executive in the southeast for many years, will be the speaker at both conference and banquet meetings, according to T. I. McIntosh, of West Palm Beach, Council president.

The attendance chairman here requested those who plan to attend from this district make reservations before Dec. 11. He points out that it will not be necessary for those attending to have direct affiliation with Boy Scouts.

Attendance chairmen of this area include John Harrington of Canal Point, Rev. E. S. Dougherty, Pahokee; L. L. Hardy, South Bay and H. H. Raulerson of Okeechobee City.

High Army Officers Praise Glades Job Of Producing Food

Only County In State and One Of 36 Counties In 16 States

Headed by Governor Holland and General Edwarrd H. Alexander, Commanding Officer of the Caribbean Wing, ATC, hundreds of visitors joined Glades farmers Monday in witnessing the delivery of the Army "A" Award and Certificate from Judge Marvin Jones to Palm Beach County..

"My hat is off to everyone of you who has had a part in making this remarkable record," said Governor Holland, "and, not only are you people of Palm Beach County going all out in food produtcion but in the purchase of War Bonds, Civilian Defense activities and the entertainment of service men and women. All Florida is proud of this great honor that has come to Palm Beach County."

General Alexander said "I know from my own experience that the food you are raising right here contributes in no small way to our ability to carry on the war in the Far Eeast."

Captain Browne, who presented the flag for the Army said. "This is a day of historic importance. No one stood over you with guns to see that you worked long hours to produce this food; no one ordered you at the point of a bayonet to provide a certain percentage of food to your government, leaving you barely enough until the next crop year. You are not only soldiers producing the most potent weapon of war, but you symbolize the very heart of America."

Mr. Clayton, who presented Judge Jones' certificate said, "This award is made in recognition of the outstanding achievement of the combined eforts of farm families and is similar to the Army-Navy "E" penant given industrial plants for exceptional efficiency."

"The award was recommended for outstanding achievement in the production of winter vegetables, principally snap beans. In the year 1939 Palm Beach County produced 53,715 acres of winter vegetable crops and in 1941-42 there were 52,750 acres grown. The 1943 production goal which the county was asked to produce amounted to 54,695 acres, of which 35,000 acres were snap beans. The actual acreage harvested in the 1942-43 season was 65,295 acres, which was 10,6000 acres above the goal and 119.4 percent of the goal.

Another fact that should not be overlooked is that the season's yield per acre for snap beans was 26 bushel above the previous record yield for the State. Thus this county attained the highest production per acre and the greatest acreage on re-

YOUUR GOVERNOR

St. Augustine, Dec. 2.—State Senator Frank D. Upchurch has announced his candidacy for Governor of Florida, subject to the Democratic primary in 1944, in a statement clearly defining the principles for which he stands and the existing policies he opposes.

Frank Upchurch, now 49, is the son of native Floridians, John J. and Susan Hawkins Upchurch of Nassau county. He was born just across the Florida border at Race Pond, in Charlton County, Georgia. His father was prominent in the business, political and civic life of Florida and was engaged in the lumber and naval stores business all of his life.

A graduate of Duval High School, Jacksonville, Senator Upchurch attended the University of North Carolina and gained his law degree at the University of Florida.

Senator Upchurch was married 23 years ago to Esther Davis of Nassau county.

He is a veteran of World War No. 1 in which he served as a United States Marine on foreign duty. His two sons are now in the armed services, one of them an Air Corps pilot and the other a cadet in the Army Air

SERVICE MEN who FIGHT and WRITE

SGT. WALLACE WILLIAMS

Sergeant Williams, son of Chief and Mrs. J. C. Williams, has recently been promoted from coporal to the rank of sergeant. He is now stationed at Wendover Field, Utah, and has just graduated from the Aerial Gunnery and Fire Control School. During his six weeks course he received basic training, daily drill, lived under combat conditions, received training in the firing and maintenance of machine guns and all theoretical and practical courses vital to aerial gunnery. He will now be assigned to a tactical unit and receive actual experience in combat.

Wendover Field is situated on the edge of the great Salt Lake desert and is one of the nation's most important training schools for heavy bomber crews and aerial gunners. There is a natural bombing range of 1,900,000 acres upon which similated targets of every type have been constructed for use in precision bombing.

Sergeant Williams prior to entering the service in February 1943 was employed by the A & P store in Belle Glade.

PVT. JUNIUS HARRIS

On the rifle range at Camp Forrest, Tennessee, Private Harris recently made sharpshooter with a score of 172 which entitles him to a sharpshooter medal. Highest score made at that time was for Expert and that was 181. Junius writes that he still has his fingers crossed with hopes of a December furlough.

DON W. HERRIN

Don is now an MP. He has recently been discharged from a hospital and due to back and knee injuries sustained during the invasion of Sicily, he is unable to rejoin his old parachute batallion. He writes that his morale is very low to think that he was once in one of the best outfits in Uncle Sam's Army—a Paratrooper and now a member of an MP organization. He says he has done everything and is still trying to get back with his old outfit, but so far has accomplished nothing and his classification officer tells him its impossible. All of the boys in his present company came from combat units.

ROSALIE WADDELL, S 2|c

Seaman Waddell has just completed her boot training at the U. S. Naval Training School at Hunter College, New York City, and has been assigned to the Naval Air Station in Pensacola, Florida. There she will be given instruction in Synthetic gunnery training and upon completion of the course will be assigned as an instructor at one of the naval air stations. Billits in synthetic gunnery training instructors are among the most sought after ones n the Women's Reserve. There are a small number selected for work in this field, and the WAVES have proved themselves expert instructors.

Rosalie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Q. Waddell, who also have a son in the Navy. James E. Waddell, who is an aviation machinist's mate at the Naval Air Station in Jacksonville.

PVT. EMMET ROBERTS

Private Roberts has sent his new address and requests that he receives the Herald so that he may keep up with Belle Glade. He is now stationed at Camp Reynolds, Greenville, Pa.

Your Problem

A well-founded fear is growing concerning the future of small business. Total war has tended to centralize industry. Somehow the trend must be corrected. But in correcting it, the belief should not be allowed to develop that there is something wrong in size alone. This is a big country. It will always need the productive effort of big industry just as it will need the productive effort of little industry. Moreover the problems of both big and little industry will to a large extent always be inseparable. For example, the small business man cannot remain indifferent to the present danger of permanent socialization of industries such as electric power, transportation and natural resources.

If, when this war is over, the field of public ownership is extended to include basic industries employing large numbers of workers—and voters—the way will have been opened for the destruction of representative government Any .government that controls the jobs and resources of a people will not be content to play long the role of servant. Our basic industries at present are owned and operated by millions of private citizens under stringent public regulation. This is as it should be. The individuals who pioneer and take risks in the development of an oil well, a mine, a railroad or any other enterprise, should be allowed to enjoy the fruits of their efforts, just the same as the newsboy who spends months building up a clientele on a certain corner deserves his just reward.

When it comes to questions of property rights and rewards for achievement, all must receive the same treatment. It can be no other way. If these things are restricted or taken away from one group, as has again happened in the case of the coal mine owners, it is only a question of time before they are taken from others, even the newsboy.

The Truth About Taxes

The Federal government, in draining away billions upon billions of dollars from the earnings of private citizens, will, if the tax laws are not wisely written and wisely administered, cripple production and bring disaster and tyranny to the people.

This fact is becoming more apparent each day. In discussing the post-war Federal tax syste mrecently, Roswell Magill, former Undersecretary of the Treasury, declared: "As citizens, we will have to have an opinion on these fiscal problems, and it might as well be an informed opinion."

For many years, the tax laws were directed toward forcing the cost of government onto the shoulders of corporations and individuals with large incomes. As the cost of government increased, an attempt was made to cover the increase without touching the pocketbooks of the great mass of voters. That can no longer be done. Every worker is beginning to feel the cost of the war and the continuing high cost of government. Unless he learns the truth about taxes, he will suffer far more than he has to date.

One of those truths is that industry is being taxed beyond the point of diminishing returns. During the war it will bear these taxes without slackening pace, as a patriotic duty. After the war, it will be a different story. According to Mr. Magill: "Corporate tax rates are at a high point in our fiscal history. They ought to be reduced as soon as they can be to a much lower level. As a nation, we would be better served with a high level of business activity and lower tax rates than with moderate business activity and high rates."

Industry can provide reasonably full employment after this war and at the same time give the country a progressively higher standard of living. Whether it actually does or not depends to a large extent upon whether taxing it beyond its ability to pay becomes a permanent policy of government.

" . . . The greatest need of this nation today is a thorough house cleaning in Washington."—W. Lee O'Daniel, U. S. Senator fro mTexas.

Witch Hunt Not Needed

New York County's War Price and Rationing Board, through its director of public relations, has complained of reluctance on the part of shoppers to report violation of price control regulations. This is not surprising, and the Board should in no way feel at fault. For more than one hundred and fifty years the American people have known nothing but frank and open dealing with each other and with their government. They have long been proud of the fact that intrigue and secret police activities have no place in this land. Our government was founded by men who feared and abhorred such procedures. The traditions that took root the day we became a nation, cannot easily be swept aside.

As a matter of fact, we need no army of "investigators" to keep a watchful eye on the distribution of necessities. Price and rationing rules that are reasonably understandable are accepted in the spirit in which they are written—as an effort to do the utmost with what we have to achieve victory. Toward this end, retailers, and everyone else, including the press, will continue to do far more than merely follow the rules. They will continue to seek with every means at their command to keep the public informed on the necessity and the problems of price fixing and rationing.

Unless they did do this, the government could not carry through its program, and everyone knows it. So why not go easy on the witch hunting tactics? They will never become popular and can never replace good old-fashioned American methods of doing business.

Town And Farm In Wartime

Increased supplies of canned pineapple, canned grapefruit juice, asparagus, corn, pumpkin, spinach, tomatoes, beans, and figs will reach retail markets within a few weeks, the War Food Administration said recently. They are supplies owned and held by canners, but set aside for government purchases, which have been released to civilians

More Farm Machinery In 1944

An improved outlook for new farm machinery in 1944 is foreseen by the War Food Administration Raw materials authorized by WPB to make planting tillage, and harvesting equipment during the year provide for about twice the quantity produced in 1943, or almost 80 percent of the production in 1940—a year in which manufacture was relatively large. The manufacture of repair parts will be unrestricted.

Suspend Slaughter Quotas

To facilitate marketing and slaughter of record numbers of livestock produced by U. S. farmers ,slaughter quotas (for civilian consumption) until further notice have been suspended by the War Food Administration.

Must Collect Points for Pork

Although WFA has temporarily lifted all its restrictions on the amount of pork a farmer may deliver to persons living off his farm, he must continue to collect ration points for all rationed meats, OPA said recently. If pork is transferred point-free, it means a great deal of this food will find its way into the black market and will be unavailable to legitimate consumers.

Brown Points for Waste Fats

For every pound of fat a housewife turns in to her meat dealer or other fat salvager, she will receive two brown points, beginning December 13. "But most important," Herbert M. Faust, director of WPB's salvage division said, "within a month the fat will be transformed into war materials and on the way to the fighting fronts.' He reminded housewives to save the grease from turkeys, geese, ducks, an dchickens, for the manufacture of war products.

Reduce Bean Prices

Reductions up to two cents a pound in wholesale and retail prices for dry edible beans will result from recent OPA action reducing the price spread between country shipper and wholesaler. Country shipping point prices remain unchanged.

Wool Restrictions Lifted

With only two exceptions WPB has lifted all restrictions on use of raw wool. Finer grades of alpaca may not be used except for military purposes, and only carpet wool and mohair may be used for floor coverings.

Fuel Oil Rations Same

Rations of fuel oil throughout the 33-state rationed area remain unchanged at 10 gallons per unit for Period 2, which began November 30, Chester Bowles, OPA administrator, said recently. Period 3 couons, which also went into effect November 30 in the midwestern and southern states under fuel oil rationing, have the same unit value—10 gallons. This applies to Class 4 coupons, used mostly by small householders. Class 5 coupons, used by larger conusmers, are good for 50 gallons each. Class 1 and 2 "change making" coupons for fuel oil, part of last year's ration, are invalid for all purposes beginning December 1.

Can Hold Shoes 30 Days

Without ration payment dealers may not hold shoes bought on a will-call or lay-away plan, or by special order, longer than 30 days after they become available for delivery, OPA has announced.

Western Gasoline Aids Attack

Gasoline drawn largely from West Coast and Rocky Mountain areas in powering land, sea, and air attacks on Bougainville and bombings of Rabaul, according to OWI on the basis of Army and Navy statements. Gasoline also is saving our wounded men by enabling them to be flown in transport planes to hospitals far behind the lines.

Increase Coal Prices

Anthracite coal ceiling prices have been raised by OPA an average of 62 cents a net ton at the mine. Increases range from 35 to 70 cents a ton, depending on the size of the coal. On June 1, 1944, the new ceilings at the mine will be reduced by an average of 28 cents a ton, leaving net increases of about 34 cents a ton. The exact amount of these increases can be assed on to the consumer. Purpose of the approximately six months of higher ceilings is to compensate mine owners for the retroactive feature of recent wage increases.

To Register Nation's Nurses

Every graduate nurse throughout the nation is asked by the War Manpower Commission to register at a local hospital or health center during National Nurses Mobilization Week, beginning February 7, The appeal is being made to graduate nurses of all ages, no matter where they live or how long they have been away from active practice. As war fronts expand, more and more nurses will be demanded by the armed forces, and they must be replaced by nurses now inactive.

Save Jars for 1944 Canning

Home canners are urged to save all glass jars and tops suitable for re-use. They will be needed to round out new supplies next summer, the Department of Agriculture says. Many commercial jars—those containing coffee, pickles, peanut butter and mayonnaise—are now standardized as to size and type of opening, so that a jar and its metal screw cap may be used for home canning by buying only a metal sealing disk with flowed on rubber compound.

Army to Release Vehicles

Non-combat Army vehicles, manufactured in 1940 and before, will be made available for essential civilian use in the near future, according to the War Department. Jeeps will not be released. Details will be announced later.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Booby Trap Detector

In the snow, in the sand, on the beaches, on the roads, in the woods, everywhere the Axis soldiers hide "booby traps," to slow the movement of oncoming fighting men of the United Nations. The detector does the same work on land as the mine sweeper does at sea.

Like buying War Bonds, the soldier operating the detectors will never know just how much they have aided in the success of their campaign, but he knows his work is necessary and must be accomplished. If more Americans on the home front will come to realize this, the success of our War Bond campaigns will be assured.

CINEMATIC CHATTER

By Malcolm Millar

Every so often Hollywood producers get a yen to produce super-dooper Western drama, such as "Jesse James," "The Oklahoma Kid," and others that will live in the memory of movie fans.

Latest of these supers to arrive in our midst is "The Desperadoes," which is in Technicolor and is due to be screened at the Everglades Theatre, Belle Glade, starting with the Owl Show on Saturday and running through Sunday-Monday.

Stars of this piece are Randolph Scott, Glenn Ford, Claire Trevor, Evelyn Keyes and Edgar Buchanan, with a huge cast of well known featured players and lesser lights. The story is said to be excellent and the cast, direction and characterization faultless. . . So it looks like a natural.

Tuesday - Wednesday comes Joan Davis, Jinx Falkenburg and Bob Haymes in a rollicking musical piece under the title "Two Senoritas from Chicago." It will slay you.

Thursday-Friday George Sanders, Margaruite Chaman and a well balanced cast present "Appointment in Berlin," which is an actionated piece that will wear you like a dish rag during its 10-minutes of screening.

Saturday comes "Wild" Bill Elliott, teamed with Tex Ritter in "The Devil's Trail."

HOME-CANNED BERRIES TAKE LITTLE SUGAR

Home canned berries play leading roles in the pantry because they contribute vitamins and minerals for health, can be used in many ways, and are easy and inexpensive to can.

Blackberries, blueberries, boysenberries, raspberries, elderberries—can them all and others, too, with little or no sugar. Sugar gives them better flavor and more calories, but has nothing to do with keeping qualities.

Berries are too precious to waste and none will be wasted if you will see to it that every step taken is the right one. First of all, wash, rinse and examine your jars. Be sure to inspect the top edges of those to be sealed with glass top seal or two-piece vacuum seal closures because top seals refuse to work unless tops of the jars are perfect. Cover jars, glass lids, and zinc caps with luke-warm water, heat to boiling and keep hot until needed. Wash and rinse rubbers and vacuum seal lids and drop them in boiling water—they don't need boiling unless you plan to do old-fashioned open kettle canning—then they must be boiled a few minutes to sterilize.

Every berry must be fresh, sound, ripe, and firm. Wash them carefully and then take your choice of canning methods.

Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director of Ball Brothers Company, prefers to hot-pack berries. This is how it is done. Place berries in a wide, shallow pan; add one-half cup sugar, or less, for each quart of berries; set the pan over low heat and simmer until the berries heat through and the sugar dissolves (remember you don't have to use any sugar); pour the hot berries into clean, hot jars and process five minutes in hot water-bath canner.

If you prefer cold packing, fill a jar about half full with raw berries, then tap it gently on a folded cloth to shake the berries down. When the jar is filled to within a half-inch of the top, add enough hot syrup to cover the berries. Process 20 minutes in a water-bath canner.

Syrup for four quarts of berries may be made by boiling two cups sugar and three cups water or berry juice together until the sugar dissolves. If you are a little short on sugar—and who isn't these days?—try making the syrup of one measure sugar, one measure corn syrup, and one-half measure water or berry juice. This syrup seems rather thick and sweet, but it will become thinner and less sweet after it has been with the berries a few weeks. And if you have no sugar at all, cover the berries with hot berry juice or boiling water; seal or partly seal the jars (follow the manufacturer's instructions) and process 20 minutes in a water-bath canner.

If you want your berries to really star, can them without sugar. Then they can be used as if they were fresh from the patch. The juice can be drained off and used for making jelly. The berries can go into a pie or into jam—a jam turnover tucked in a lunch box will make the noon hour much more pleasant for somebody and surely you need nobody to tell you that jelly and jam are far more delicious when freshly made than at any other time.

BOY SCOUTS HAVE CAMPING TRIP

The Belle Glade Boy Scout troop enjoyed a two night's camp last Friday through Sunday at William Hill's Ranch located at Devil's Garden, southwest of Clewiston. Sixteen Boy Scouts and four Scout leaders located their camp at a junction of the large prairie and a hommock of oaks, cabbage palmettos and pines. In this beautiful setting where turkeys and quail are abundant the Scouts learned much of the art of living in the woods. Tent pitching, fire building, cookng, path-finding, camp fires, story telling and games made the outing one which was enjoyed by all. The camp was planned as a reward for the excellent record made by the Scout troop in a campaign for better Scouting and advancement.

Forces. He favors a program of rehabilitation for returning service men and women of Florida who are now being released from the armed forces at the rate of about 1,000 a month, due to illnesses and injuries suffered in line of duty.

"So far," Senator Upchurch added, "about 10,000 Floridians have been released from service, who deserve prompt consideration."

Senator Upchurch was a member of the Legislature from Nassau County in 1921. He has been mayor of St. Augustine and at present is attorney for the Board of County Commissioners of St. Johns County.

He is an active member of the Presbyterian church and a number of civic, fraternal and veterans' organizations.

"As Governor," Upchurch said, "I will cooperate with state, county and municipal officials in the interest of harmony and efficiency.

"I shall enforce the laws, but I shall be ever mindful of the democratic doctrine that 'people who are least governed are best governed'."
